

The Complete Guide to PROFESSIONAL Development

Summer/Fall 2024

Welcome

to the Monroe 2-Orleans BOCES Professional Development Guide

The Office of Curriculum, Instruction and Professional Development at Monroe 2-Orleans BOCES (BOCES 2) is comprised of a skilled team of administrators, professional development specialists and clerical support committed to providing a high-quality service to our component school districts.

We support the districts in our region in engaging in continuous professional learning by offering a range of professional development experiences for administrators, teachers and professional support staff that are grounded in current educational research. All of the BOCES 2 professional development sessions and support services are aligned to the instructional priorities of our local school districts and the New York State Department of Education. Our professional development sessions are facilitated in a manner that reflects best practices in the field and based upon the principles of diversity, equity and inclusion.

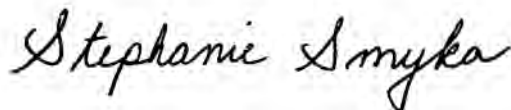

The Office of Curriculum, Instruction and Professional Development employs a variety of models to support implementation of the New York State Learning Standards, leadership development, effective practices in the K-12 classroom, and data-informed instruction. In addition to workshops, professional development models include job-embedded professional learning through instructional coaching, synchronous and asynchronous online platforms, and professional learning communities. BOCES 2 offers a number of high-quality services for teachers and leaders such as BOCES 4 Science, Finger Lakes Regional Adult Education Network (FL-RAEN), Mid-West Regional Bilingual Education Resource Network (RBE-RN) and Reading Recovery. These services support our districts in assuring that teachers in our region have the tools they need to provide excellence and equity for all learners.

True to the BOCES 2 mission, our office is committed to providing quality, cost-effective services and partnering with districts to develop authentic professional development services designed to improve student achievement. If you have questions or comments about any of the offerings in The Complete Guide to Professional Development, please contact our office at (585) 352-2402 or via email at profdev@monroe2boces.org.

Why BOCES 2?

The Monroe 2-Orleans BOCES Office of Curriculum, Instruction and Professional Development works directly with component school districts to develop offerings that align to the New York State Department of Education's Reform Agenda and district initiatives. In partnership with our districts, we work to support state and district reforms by contracting with a variety of nationally recognized authors and presenters to provide workshops, and then we offer follow-up sessions and coaching to assist with implementation.

Specifically, the professional development offerings at BOCES 2 cover the gamut of current trends in educational philosophy and teaching techniques. Subject matter experts teach relevant sessions in a relaxed atmosphere. We make it easy for you to stay up-to-date.

If you don't see what fits your needs here in the offerings guide, please contact us via phone at (585) 352-2402 or email at profdev@monroe2boces.org. We're happy to create customized training for your specific requirements.

Curriculum and Professional Development

Mid-West RBE-RN

The Mid-West Regional Bilingual Education Resource Network (RBE-RN) is part of the NYS Education Department's networks of support for schools. The goal of Mid-West RBE-RN is to assist districts and schools in creating an optimal education environment for English Language Learners (ELLs), which fosters meaningful teaching and learning. Our expertise lies in researched-based instruction and assessment of ELLs, along with the alignment of those practices to the NYS Learning Standards. Contact the Mid-West RBE-RN office at (585) 352-2790 for more information regarding Mid-West RBE-RN offerings.

Building Literacy with Multilingual Learners Book Club

This book club will focus on the book "Building Literacy with Multilingual Learners: Insights from Linguistics 3rd Edition," exploring the processes involved in second language acquisition and literacy development. We meet four times over Zoom to discuss the contents of assigned reading. Books must be purchased on your own.

Dates: July 3, July 24, August 7 and August 28, 2024
Time: 10 a.m. – 12:30 p.m.
Presenter: Jennifer Raponi

Welcoming New ELLs: From Registration to Exit: A NYS English Language Learner Identification Workshop

Creating a welcoming environment from the very start is imperative to the academic success of students and building partnerships with families of English Language Learners (ELLs). This begins from the day that families step onto your campus to register new students. Participants will learn about the process of identifying students as ELLs, including considerations such as program placement, SIFE designation, language proficiency teams and exiting the program. This workshop is intended for anyone involved with the identification and welcoming of ELLs, including school administrators, administrative support professionals, and teachers.

Date: June 18, 2024
Time: 9 a.m.-noon OR 1-4 p.m.
Presenter: Nicole Bell

Ancestor Approved Book Study

"Ancestor Approved Intertribal Stories for Kids"
by Cynthia Leitich Smith

This book is a collection of stories and poems by Native writers written for 8-12 year olds. Some of the stories intersect as families plan for, travel and attend a powwow in Michigan. Enjoy the themes of friendship, heritage, culture, trust, strength, pride and family as you hear the stories come alive as told by different voices. This book is available (free) on Hoopla as an audiobook or at Hipocampo Childrens Books. The book study runs from August 6-23, 2024. You must register by August 2. While most of the course is asynchronous (on your own time), there is a mandatory Zoom meeting on August 23 from 10-11 a.m. Participants will receive 6 CTLE Credits.

Indigenous Peoples' Day and Beyond – Culture, Values & Literature

Bringing Indigenous Literature, Voice, and Values to Education

Part I will be an in-person session, offered for three hours. What can we learn and teach about Indigenous values? Where do these fascinating cultures fit into our curriculum? Why is this important? Join us to discuss how to incorporate literature by and about Indigenous People into our teaching. We will spend time discussing children's literature by and about Indigenous and Native people to share in the classroom as well as focusing on mindfulness, gratitude, connection to nature, and history. Participants will leave with resources to use with students and ideas on how to lead culturally rich discussions at school. Part II will be a one-hour follow up session via Zoom. We'll further explore some of the ideas and topics we looked at in Part I. Participants will have time to share what they've implemented and get feedback from the group. There will be time to ask questions, discuss needs for support, and next steps with learning and teaching about Indigenous People. You must attend both sessions to receive CTLE credit for this PD series.

Dates: October 4, 2024 (in-person) and

How to Re-energize Your Disengaged Writers

This PD session will offer strategies for countering certain types of writing behaviors that are obstacles to being productive in a writing workshop. Come explore strategies for helping students who struggle to generate topics or who just resist writing in general, who tend to talk through a writing workshop instead of writing, or who require constant feedback to continue through a piece.

Date: November 14, 2024
Time: 3:30-4:30 p.m.
Presenter: Janet Hess
Location: Online via Zoom
Audience: Teachers of Writing, Grades 3-6

Literacy: The Science(s) of Reading Series

The Art and Science of Reading Series: How Does it Look in the K-2 Classroom?

This is a six-part series reviewing topics relating to the Science of Reading in early literacy instruction. The sessions are based in part on guidance provided by NYSED's Literacy Initiative and the Science of Reading brief series released in January 2024. Though it is recommended to attend all six sessions, it is not required.

Part 1: The Art and Science of Teaching Phonics

This one-hour session explores the research support for explicit, systematic phonics instruction, how to create or evaluate a scope and sequence, and practical classroom applications.

Part 2: The Art and Science of Phonemic Awareness

This one-hour session explores the research support for explicitly teaching phonemic awareness and practical classroom applications.

Part 3: The Art and Science of Reading Comprehension and Oral Language Development

This one-hour session explores how oral language development and listening comprehension are critical to reading comprehension. We will discuss what the research says and doesn't say about the complex processes involved in reading comprehension.

Part 4: The Art and Science of Effective Prompting During Reading

This one-hour session explores what the current research indicates about the use of the three cueing systems (MSV) during reading. Common misunderstandings around this hotly debated topic will be addressed.

Part 5: The Art and Science of High Frequency Word Instruction

This one-hour session explores what the sciences are telling us about the teaching and learning of high frequency words and sight words. Join us for a discussion about best practices for learning these words based on what current research in the field is telling us.

Part 6: The Art and Science of Text Types: The When and How

This one-hour session explores different text types and what the science is telling us about how we might use them with students, such as decodable texts, leveled texts and high-quality read-alouds.

Dates: See dates below for each session under Registration

Time: 3:30-4:30 p.m.

Emotion Regulation Basics: Strategies for Educator and Student Success

Emotion is a complex state of feeling that impacts people both physically and psychologically. It's essential to realize the way emotions affect the mind, body and behavior for us all - adults, students and families. "Emotional Regulation" is a term that gets thrown around a lot, but how much do we really know about what it means? How does it impact us? What are the precursor skills? How do we explicitly teach this to students or even learn it for ourselves and our own personal benefit? This session will allow participants to engage in this crucial area of social and emotional learning. Participants will also spend time learning and discussing strategies within a framework for success in the development of emotion regulation skills in the classroom - both for adults and for students.

Culturally Responsive Sustaining (CR-S) Education Cohort 8

District pre-approval required for registration

This is a six session, full-day, in-person CR-S education training.

The sessions will be co-facilitated with four individuals from districts who have already been trained to build their competency and capacity in executing the Culturally Responsive Sustaining (CR-S) education training. The CR-SE co-facilitation team will co-facilitate the CR-S education content, in which a NYU Metro Center IESC associate will coach CR-SE co-facilitators before each upcoming session, co-present during the sessions, and observe district CR-SE trainers. After the session, feedback will be offered to the CR-SE co-facilitators. This session will help educators shift deficit thinking mindsets, specifically focusing on how race, identity, power, and privilege create education barriers that have historically created educational inequities for marginalized children and families. The CR-S education series supports the development of educators' ability to use race and culture to improve educational outcomes (Howard, 2010) and supports educators' engagement in a process of self-transformation in order to ensure equitable outcomes for every student (Banks, 2007). In this session, we will explore how microaggression, stereotype threat, and risk and protective factors are central in considering the role that schools have in creating welcoming, affirming, and validating environments, inclusive curriculum, and rigorous instruction that mitigates vulnerability.

Sessions 5 and 6 will focus on identifying CR-S education school and classroom practices, developing competency around using the CRE Toolkit (CRE Curriculum Audit, CR-SE problem solving teams, CR-SE classroom tool), and developing district/school level Guardians of Equity teams.

Curriculum and Professional Development

Curriculum Design

The Office of Curriculum and Professional Development provides offerings that reflect current trends and practices in a number of areas. Professional developers utilize best practices in their instruction to provide support for a variety of educators. We are happy to tailor programming to meet the needs of your district.

Call (585) 352-2402 for more information regarding the Curriculum and Professional Development offerings.

Curriculum Review/Audits

The Curriculum Review/Audits service is intended to assist districts in the evaluation of their curriculum and/or programs. Curriculum Reviews/Audits consist of classroom visitations, interviews with teachers/administrators, teacher and administrator surveys, a review of available resources, and a comprehensive report of findings and recommendations. Each curriculum review/audit will be developed in conjunction with the district and individualized to meet their needs.

Curriculum Reviews/Audits are conducted by a Monroe 2-Orleans BOCES team consisting of the Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum, Instruction and Professional Development and instructional specialists.

Curriculum Writing

This service is intended to assist districts in writing curriculum K-12 that aligns with NYS Learning Standards and core curricula. Best practice in curriculum design is utilized at BOCES 2.

Collaborative curriculum development is available, as is BOCES 2 development and writing of documents for districts. The goal of these writings is to develop flexible, responsive documents that ensure coverage of key content and skills while providing maximum opportunities to incorporate resources and teaching strategies that meet the needs of diverse learners.

Curriculum and Professional Development

Services

BOCES 2 is pleased to offer a range of instructional services designed to support districts in achieving high levels of success in identified areas of need. For more information about how to employ these services in your district, please contact the Office of Curriculum, Instruction and Professional Development at (585) 352-2402.

Special Education Instructional Service

The Special Education Instructional service is designed to improve understanding of the academic and behavioral needs of students with disabilities, along with improved instruction in the classroom resulting in an increase in student achievement. Students with disabilities have the right to high-quality instruction to reach the same standards as all students. Our goal is for students to leave school prepared to successfully transition to post-school learning, living and working. All special education services provide access in order for students to make meaningful connections to their education and future.

Our Special Education Specialist can support teachers and administrators of students with disabilities through a variety of services including, but not limited to: technical assistance, job-embedded support, and district or school systems work. The Special Education Specialist is able to support any work related to the State Performance Plan (SPP) Indicators in accordance with the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA).

Instructional Coaching – Math and Literacy

Well-versed in research, theory and best practices of instruction, our experienced personnel will partner with teachers and building leaders to set goals for improved student achievement. Through this partnership approach, coaches will work with teachers in a job-embedded format as they move through the stages of a coaching cycle, including gathering of data to inform goals, demonstrating new instructional practices, coteaching of lessons, engaging in reflective conversations, providing feedback and collecting evidence of student achievement.

In addition to 1:1 opportunities, our coaches can model lessons for groups of teachers, conduct group meetings on an ongoing basis, assist with the development and implementation of standards-aligned lessons, and support the deep analysis of student work. With their expertise in the Next Generation Standards for English Language Arts and Mathematics, our coaches can assist districts in meeting the increasing demands by working collaboratively with teachers to provide high-quality instruction.

Literacy Audit

Designed to address district-specific questions, this service can provide a “state of the state” look at K-12 literacy programs. The audit process can be completed with a focus on curriculum alignment and vertical articulation, resource implementation or assessment results. BOCES 2 staff will work with district personnel to develop a framework that meets district needs.

Audit services can include, but are not limited to:

- Review of curriculum documents with a focus on NYS grade-level standards.
- Classroom walkthroughs to address resource and strategy implementation.
- Grade-level meetings to investigate teacher perception of program strengths/needs.
- Principal interviews to gather leadership data on the state of the literacy program.
- An analysis of professional development opportunities and their impact on classroom instruction.

Districts are encouraged to meet with BOCES 2 staff to create an individualized audit process, utilizing only those elements that serve to answer their unique literacy needs. A thorough report with program analysis and needs assessment will be included for participating districts.

BOCES 4 Science Professional Learning

BOCES 4 Science is committed to ensuring that science training is widely available. Please be aware that our schedule of course offerings changes frequently, and the most up-to-date listing of professional learning workshops is always on our website at <http://www.boces4science.org>.

Curriculum-Embedded Professional Learning

Teaching science is changing. The New York State Science Learning Standards (NYSSLS) provide guidance for new curriculum and the shifts in instruction that are integral to it. When teachers attend training sessions on each unit, they dive into the appropriate NYSSLS topic. The lessons in the unit are written to be three-dimensional, and the margin notes in the Teacher's Guides focus attention on those 3-D elements. In addition, the training sessions emphasize how instruction has shifted with the new standards. BOCES 4 Science educators are always ready to provide support after these sessions, as teachers and students embark on this new adventure.

BOCES 4 Science Embedded Professional Learning courses, as well as all supporting materials on the BOCES 4 Science website, are free with the lease of the corresponding unit. Upon completion of a BOCES 4 Science Professional Learning course, participants will earn the number of CTLE credits appropriate for the length and complexity of the training. In-person and online formats are offered. Please contact Lisa Zeznick, BOCES 4 Science Assistant Director, at lzeznick@boces4science.org to discuss formats and date preferences to meet your needs.

Additional Professional Learning Workshops

Making Sense of the ELS & ILS Investigations ... for Administrators

Join us for this informative session in which we will shed light on the new NYSED Elementary and Intermediate Level Science Investigations. We will discuss the rationale behind their development, the gist of each lab, various factors affecting administration of the investigations, and the pros and cons of different implementation options for districts.

Date/Time/Location: Scheduled by request
Audience: School Administrators K-12

Science “Look-Fors” ... Especially for Administrators

The NYSSLS have changed how science should be taught. How will you know if your school's science education is aligned to the NYSSLS and three-dimensional science instruction? This session provides an overview of specific shifts in the teaching of science and what administrators should “look for” when visiting classrooms.

Date/Time/Location: Scheduled by request
Audience: School Administrators K-12

What’s the Story with the SEPs and the CCCs?

Join us as we jump into the NYSSLS Science & Engineering Practices (SEPs) and Cross Cutting Concepts (CCCs) Progressions! We'll collaborate on products illustrating how the SEPs and the CCCs grow in complexity across grade levels. You'll head back to school with the SEP and CCC visuals we create, and you will be ready to turnkey this workshop, if desired!

Date/Time/Location: Scheduled by request
Audience: K-12 Teachers of Science

123s of the PLDs

Join us as we figure out how to help our young scientists excel! We will use the NYS Performance Level Descriptions (PLDs) to evaluate and revise a lesson. You will walk away with a solid process for helping students perform at high levels in your own classroom.

Date/Time/Location: Scheduled by request
Audience: K-12 Teachers of Science

The NYSSLS and Instructional Shifts in Science

The NYSSLS emphasize three-dimensional teaching and learning that incorporates Science and Engineering Practices, Disciplinary Core Ideas, and Cross Cutting Concepts. This session examines how these standards are structured and how the instructional shifts change the way that science is taught in the classroom to help students move from learning facts to making sense of the world around them.

Date/Time/Location: Scheduled by request
Audience: K-12 Teachers and Administrators

STARLAB® Certification and Re-certification

The STARLAB® is an inflatable, portable planetarium system that helps draw students into the amazing world of astronomy. It is an educational tool that gets students excited about learning, and encourages wonder and questioning about astronomy phenomena. It is appropriate for use with PK-12 students and can accommodate up to 25 students at once. BOCES 4 Science certifies teachers to use the STARLAB® equipment.

Date/Time/Location: Scheduled by request
Audience: K-12 Teachers and Administrators

If our current schedule of Investigations, Curriculum Units and Additional Workshops does not fully meet your professional learning needs, please contact Lisa Zeznick at lzeznick@boces4science.org. We regularly offer the following formats and will work with you to determine the most appropriate plan for your school or district:

- Full-day, in-person Curriculum Unit workshop
- Online, half-day Curriculum Unit workshop
- Online, three- or four-hour Curriculum Unit workshop series, weekly for an hour at a time
- Full-day, in-person Investigations workshops
- Half-day, in-person streamlined Investigations workshops
- Science workshops on specific topics, in-person or online, timeframes appropriate to topics addressed

Instructional Technology

As experts in instructional technology integration, our commitment lies in strengthening instructional technology and curriculum initiatives within the component districts. Our core mission is to enrich educational experiences by cultivating technology proficiency among students, educators and staff members through the seamless integration of technology into the curriculum.

Instructional Technology Specialists offer both in-district traditional and virtual workshops for faculty and staff. Regional events are free for participating districts. For more information, contact Communications and Technology Services Supervising Manager Ray Miller at rmiller@monroe2boces.org.

Self-Paced Professional Development

Our Self-Paced PD offerings are available around the clock, giving you convenient access to learn on your own schedule. Enroll in these quality web-based courses and access PD resources on the most current topics affecting teachers today, all at a time that works best with your busy schedule!

Presenter: Mike Neumire

Introducing the Universal Design for Learning

The Universal Design for Learning (UDL) is a framework for designing instruction that is accessible and optimized for all students. This self-paced session introduces the UDL guidelines and how they support teachers by removing obstacles from learning and honoring student variability. By the end of this self-paced session, you should feel comfortable using the guidelines as a lens to begin to make small tweaks that amount to meaningful and challenging learning opportunities that all students can access. The link to this session will be emailed to you after you register.

Learning to Use Minecraft

Minecraft is a powerful learning environment with limitless possibilities. Students are empowered to represent their learning in visual, interactive ways, all while developing Next Generation skills through authentic experiences. Wondering how Minecraft works, and how it might work for your content and classroom? Start here! The link to this self-paced session will be emailed to you after you register.

Using Minecraft to Learn

It's time to dig into all the learning-rich ways that Minecraft Education Edition can be integrated as your go-to, game-based learning platform. This self-paced training will dive into classroom applications for Minecraft Education that will turn your students from passive receivers of knowledge to active constructors of learning!

AI and the Impacts of Computing - Parts 1 & 2

New York State's Computer Science and Digital Fluency Standards couldn't have taken shape at a more opportune time. Artificial Intelligence (AI) is turning the educational world on its head, and this session will examine its impact through the lens of New York's "Impacts of Computing" standards. You will explore educational resources that have embraced AI, unpack the "impacts of computing" standards in relation to AI and have conversations about the potential paths this newly ubiquitous technology could take us. The link to this session will be emailed to you after you register.

Escape the Ordinary

Everyone loves a good mystery. It is human nature to want to close open loops. Escape rooms take advantage of this nature, placing people in a room with all the tools and information they need to escape, but requiring problem-solving, creativity, and collaboration to make it all come together before time runs out. This self-paced PD will give you the what, why, and how of using escape room design in your classroom, as well as tons of tips, resources, and examples. The link to this session will be emailed to you after you register.

Coding But Not Really with Gimkit Creative

Get creative with Gimkit's latest experience: an immersive game design platform that reinforces the principles of coding without requiring any game knowledge. Use the same tools that the Gimkit team uses to build their game modes. Gimkit stands above its peers with this deeply creative and fun dimension of its platform. The link to this session will be emailed to you after you register.

Distance Learning Professional Learning Opportunities

Online learning has become essential in K-12 education, with schools increasingly digitizing instruction and utilizing learning management systems. Distance education at BOCES 2 focuses on promoting and supporting the pedagogy, instructional systems and technologies necessary to deliver quality educational content and learning opportunities for students.

The Distance Learning Specialist provides opportunities for educators to learn to effectively utilize online tools to create new learning opportunities for students. Regional events are free for participating districts. For more information, contact Distance Learning Specialist Donna Farren at dfarren@monroe2boces.org.

Regional Meet Up: Seesaw

Connect and collaborate with other Seesaw users! This session will provide a time to collaborate with other teachers in the region who are using Seesaw with students. We will explore features, updates and resources while sharing and building a community of learners.

Teaching the Holocaust: Virtual Field Trips, Guest Experts and Online Resources

The New York State Social Studies Learning Standards provide for the implementation of this requirement by requiring instruction in the Holocaust and other human rights atrocities. Instruction about the Holocaust is incorporated throughout the K-12 Social Studies Framework. The Framework specifies the Holocaust as essential curriculum content in the 8th, 10th, and 11th grade social studies courses.

Learn about the virtual resources and opportunities for teachers to bring into their classrooms to help meet these standards. This session includes resources from museums throughout the world.

MAARS

In addition to the multiple user group sessions MAARS hosts throughout the year on programs like i-Ready, eDoctrina and MAP Growth, the following regional offerings are intended for any member of the 19 component districts of Monroe One BOCES and BOCES 2 to attend at no additional cost. Districts who wish to offer these or other sessions tailored specifically to their own educators may contact Lorena Stabins at lstabins@bocesmaars.org or Ryan Maier at rmaier@bocesmaars.org.

Culturally Responsive Assessment Practices

Many teachers have created a welcoming and accepting culture in their classrooms. However, do the assessment practices we currently use contribute to or work against that culture? What tweaks can classroom teachers make to their assessment practices so that it benefits all students? Together, we will examine different assessment practices through a culturally responsive lens to answer these questions and more.

Date: September 17, 2024
Time: 3:30-4:30 p.m.
Presenter: Lorena Stabins
Location: Online via Zoom

Equitable Grading Practices in Action

Most educators were successful as students, so it is likely that traditional grading practices worked well for them when they were in middle and high school. However, these practices do not work well for all students. We have heard that more equitable grading practices promote greater success for all students, particularly those historically underserved.

It can be very difficult to imagine something different from what we experienced. What would different (more equitable) grading practices look like in action? How could they potentially benefit all students? It is not about lowering expectations. It is about helping all students succeed at a high level.

We will examine scenarios where teachers use different grading practices and think about the effects those practices have on students. By the end of our time, we will discuss the potential impact for students as well as the instructional and logistical considerations of the grading practices we examine together. This interactive session is geared toward, but not limited to, grade 6-12 teachers.

Creating Assessments in eDoctrina eDoctrina is a vast assessment creator that can take almost any assessment you use currently and move it online. The data that comes from eDoctrina is so informative for instructional decisions and even report cards. The first step is getting your tests online! There are several ways to create your own assessments.

Here are up to four possible assessments you can create in this course:

1. Answer-key only test with PDF Upload
2. Build Questions Assessment
3. Rubric Assessment
4. Question Bank Assessment

Date: Asynchronous
Presenter: Ryan Maier
Location: Online via Schoology

eDoctrina: Reports and Digging into the Data!

Those reports in eDoctrina sure are something! Enroll in this course to learn about each of the main reports that could open up huge data-rich conversations within your district. From seeing how students answered each question to comparing one class to others, you will have the opportunity to generate and reflect on six reports.

Reimagining Assessments

More students are struggling than ever before, and trying something new with our assessments could go a long way in helping all students succeed.

This course is designed for teachers who want to truly measure what students know, understand and can do. We have compiled several strategies to help you modify your already-made questions as well as create new ones that will accurately reflect students' learning. This course consists of two live Zoom meetings with independent work time to implement the strategies shared in-between. There will be opportunities for sharing ideas with others, feedback, self-reflection and planning next steps. Teachers are welcome to register as individuals or with a colleague to collaborate.

Dates: October 23, 2024; November 20, 2024
Time: 3-4 p.m.
Presenters: Lorena Stabins and Ryan Maier
Location: Online via Zoom

The Questions You Ask

Do you ever think about the questions you typically ask your students during instruction? Teachers use questions every day to enhance their students' learning. The quality of these questions is fundamental. Questioning spans the teaching and learning process when questions help to build students' knowledge, and teachers seek to understand the thinking behind student responses. Participants will discover how questioning with intentionality can lead to increased student engagement, meaningful discussions and higher-level thinking.

Book Party

We're librarians and we love books. Let's talk about them! This PD is an opportunity to bring librarians from across Monroe One BOCES and BOCES 2 regions together to share new books that should be read, celebrated, and added to our collections. Each participant will choose at least one recently published book to share and review.

This will be asynchronous, self-paced and open to books for kids of all ages. The book reviews will be posted on a LibGuide - details will be sent to those who register. At the end, we will have a virtual meeting where we share out all the titles and celebrate your work.

You do not have to participate in the live meeting at the end. The meeting date will be determined by the participants.

This session is a collaboration between Monroe One BOCES and BOCES 2.

AI and Media Literacy

Artificial intelligence is a hot topic, both in education and in our personal lives. While the possibilities are exciting, there are potentially negative consequences for us and for our students. The rise of widely available generative AI tools has serious implications for the future of media literacy. Moving forward, it will be more important than ever that our students have the skills to analyze the media they encounter and the habits of mind to think critically before reacting. In this session, we will talk about how to view AI through a lens of media literacy.

Rediscover the Joy of Reading: A Book Study

Do you love reading? Do you want to encourage your students to love reading? This book study is for you! We will read Donalyn Miller's and Teri Lesesne's book, "The Joy of Reading," and engage in discussions about how to spark reading joy in ourselves and in our students. With the book as our guide, we will explore our own reading lives and talk about how to create the conditions for students to have positive, joyful experiences with books. Dive into all things reading with your colleagues and learn more about what students need for healthy reading lives.

The book study will be held asynchronously on Schoology with weekly discussions. If you do not have a Schoology account, one will be created for you.

Britannica LaunchPacks for Science & Social Studies

Looking for a resource that will save you time and supplement your classroom instruction? Britannica LaunchPacks are science and social studies content bundles created just for K-12 students. Each bundle is curated by Britannica editors, so you can trust that the content has been vetted for quality and thoughtfully selected with education in mind. LaunchPacks are created around specific topics and organized into different grade bands, making it easier to find just the right resources for your students.

LaunchPacks include articles, videos, images, primary sources and interactives. As an educator, you can also customize any LaunchPack, add your own links and documents, and add student activities for increased engagement.

Britannica LaunchPacks are available to all schools in the BOCES 2 region.

Exploring Nature

If you're looking for engaging content that is designed for supporting science instruction in your classroom, we have something to show you! Staff and students have access to a wealth of digital resources through the BOCES 2 School Library System. In this session, we will focus on an in-depth resource for science content, Exploring Nature. Exploring Nature is a collection of thousands of ready-made diagrams, mini-posters, illustrations, activities, articles, and quizzes, with awesome extras like NGSS alignment and high-quality printable PDF files.

Exploring Nature is a subscription website that is available to all BOCES 2 component schools.

Intro to ClickView Video

ClickView is a collection of streaming educational videos for K-12 schools. Aiming to deliver quality content that saves teachers time, ClickView provides a smaller, more curated and newer collection than other video sources. Many of the videos are produced by ClickView, and they are exclusive to the platform. ClickView videos are kid-friendly: short, well-made and many are animated!

Videos are connected to standards and common initiatives like SEL, which is one of their focuses, and include customizable interactive features, like quizzes! Teachers can easily share videos with students and track their engagement. In this PD session, we will explore the basics of ClickView- what it is, how to use it, and how to find content to enhance and enrich your instruction.

ClickView is available to all schools that belong to the BOCES 2 Media Library. If you're not sure if you have access, please contact us.

Please allow one hour total to complete the PD; it does not need to be completed in one session.

Panopto Video

Panopto is a powerful tool for video creation, storage and sharing. This is a new resource that is available to all BOCES 2 component schools, and we are excited to show you what it can do. With Panopto, you can quickly and easily:

- Upload your existing content, including Zoom recordings, screencasts, presentations and any other videos you have,
- Record your screen and your face with picture-in-picture capture to add a personal connection to your videos,
- Organize your videos into playlists and folders, making it easy to find and share multiple videos,
- Share out your content with anyone using links or embed code,
- Increase engagement by embedding interactive content, including a built-in-quizz tool, and
- Increase accessibility with searchable closed captions and smart chapters.

This introductory session is designed to get you started with Panopto. No prior knowledge required!

Bloxels Game Builder

This introductory session is designed to get you started with Bloxels. No prior knowledge required!

Bloxels is part of our SLS Makerspace collection, and it is available to all school librarians in schools that belong to the BOCES 2 Media Library. Please note this collection is not available to classroom teachers.
